U. S. HAS FINEST AIR MAIL SERVICE

BUT IS BEHIND EUROPE ON COMMERCIAL LINES

COMMERCIAL AIRWAYS ARE TO BE DEVELOPED

Senator Bingham of Connecticut Has Just Completed a Thorough Inspection of Aerial Bases—Will Ask U. S. Support.

Swampscott, Mass.—The United States, in its air mail service, has developed the finest single air route in the world, but is yet far behind the European countries in the promotion of aviation for commercial uses and national defense, Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut declared to President Coolidge at White Court.

Senator Bingham, who during the war was a colonel of the United States air forces abroad, has just completed an inspection of all military aerial bases in this country. He called at the summer White House to enlist the president's support of a program which he will present to the incoming congress for development of the country's air forces. "The air mail service," said Senator Bingham, "has demonstrated that it is as safe to ride in the air as on a railroad train. They are making their deliveries of mail both by day and night with an accuracy of schedule hitherto unsurpassed." He said further "But it is the only commercial aviation line we have in this country. The capitals of Europe are today united by fast air services. More than eight thousand miles are being operated successfully. Eight services fly across the English Channel and in five years but one plane has dropped into the channel. The larger cities of this country are today ready to establish their own airports. Let the Federal government assist them. The national government can map out the air routes and establish day and night beacons for guides, just as we establish lighthouses for seaports.

"We can provide national inspection of planes and aviators for safety. Once we did this, the private aeroplane companies will spring up overnight and we soon would have numerous fleets speeding through the air, carrying pasengers and freight speedily and safely."

ITALIAN DEBT ENVOYS DUE IN U. S. OCT. 15

Washington.—A step forward in major debt funding operations was contained in the official announcement that an Italian debt mission, probably headed by the new financial minister, Count Volpi, is expected here on October 15. While the American government has not yet been officially advised that the mission will be headed by Count Volpi, it is understood that the Italians will follow the precedent which has been set by the French finance minister, Joseph Caillaux. The coming of the Italians in October is accepted here as a clear indication of their desire to put their American debt problem behind them. Their debt is about half that of France, totaling, with interest, $2,138,543,852, the principal being $1,647,869,197, against $3,340,516,043 principal sum in the case of France.

Paris.—Seymour Parker Gilbert, jr., agent-general for reparations payments, has announced that the German Railway Company has made payment of 60,000,000 gold marks, the balance of the interest due September 1 on its reparations bonds. "This completes the payments due from Germany," said Gilbert, "in the first year of the operations under the experts' plan, which commenced September 1 a year ago."

FLORIDA SCHEME STOPPED BY U. S.

PROMOTERS ALLEGED TO HAVE VICTIMIZED THOUSANDS

U. S. TAKES ACTION IN HUGE LAND SWINDLE

Former Barber Heads Company—Foreign Born Residents Are Largest Contributors—Part of Land Is Under Water.

Chicago.—Federal officials in Chicago obtained warrants in what they declare is a drive to burst $10,000,000 worth of Florida land bubbles, which have been inflating merrily abreast of legitimate transactions in the southern real estate boom.

The first alleged wildcat promotion company to be hit is the Florida Land Company.

The specific charge against the members of the Florida Land Company is in violation of Article 215 of the criminal code, which has to do with using the mails in furtherance of a scheme to defraud. Advertisements are cited as a part of the alleged use use of the mails.

According to Federal estimates, the companies have netted in the neighborhood of $1,600,000 through exploitation of several thousand acres of land in Orange county, Florida. Many of the victims are said to have been among the foreign born in fifty cities in Illinois, Iowa, Indiana and Wisconsin.

U. S. TAX RETURNS GAIN DESPITE CUT

Washington.—Tax reduction advocates received additional comfort from a treasury tabulation showing that in spite of the lower schedules which became effective this year internal revenue collections for July amounted to $125,866,689, compared with $10,814,885 during the same month of 1924.

The decreases due to the new law included a drop of $6,000,000 in July, 1924 to $1,500,000 in July, 1925, on amusement tickets and there were also reductions in receipts from various other forms of sales and consumption taxes. There were considerable gains from tobacco and corporation taxation.

The total collection of income tax from corporations and individuals during July were $34,953,218. In July last year it was $29,264,137. Miscellaneous internal revenue sources in July, 1925, yielded $90,913,470, against $81,550,747 in July, 1924. The capital stock on corporations yielded $20,503,000 last month, while in July, 1924, it yielded but $6,172,000.

There was a slight falling off in the tax receipts from cigar consumption, but cigarettes furnished $22,836,000 in federal revenues for July, 1925, against $19,749,000 in July, 1924.

NEWFOUNDLAND SHIPS IRON ORE TO GERMANY

St. Johns, N. F.—Nearly 100,000 tons of iron ore have just been exported from Bell island to Germany, thus breaking all records. Six ships loading at the piers presented a unique spectacle that attracted hundreds of motorists from St. John's twelve miles distant. The newspaper are pointing out that it is an anomaly that all this material should be going to Germany when none is going to Great Britain, and urging that efforts ought to be made to alter such a state of affairs.

Power Re-elected by Postmasters

Cleveland.—National postal week, the first of its kind, ended when five national associations of postal workers concluded their conventions by electing officers and selecting Philadelphia for the next year's meeting place.

No definite action was taken on the proposal of the postoffice clerks to merge all postal employes into one federation. The postmasters re-elected Robert H. Bryson, Indianapolis, president, and William E. Mannear, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., secretary-treasurer. James E. Power, San Francisco, and Arthur E. Leuder, Chicago, were chosen vice-presidents.

Coolidge Presents Medal

Swampscott, Mass.—President Coolidge presented the Herbert Schiff memorial trophy to Lieut. Reginald de Noyes Thomas, on duty at the Squantum, Mass., aviation station. The trophy was donated by the parents of Lieut. Herbert Schiff, a naval aviator killed in an accident at Hampton Roads, Va., in July, 1924, and is to be awarded annually to the naval pilot with the highest number of flying hours for the year without serious mishap. Lieutenant Thomas, with a record of 583 hours for the twelve months ended July 1, is the first to receive it.

RUF-ANDERSEN

Miss Carlyn Helena Ruf, of Santa Clara and Mr. Anders Christian Andersen of Campbell, were united in marriage at the Methodist Episcopal church in Santa Clara Tuesday evening of last week. The beautiful church marriage service was read by the Rev. Peter Ruf, of Carson City, Nev., brother of the bride, assisted by the Rev. H. J. Richards, of Santa Clara.

The bridal party entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin's march played by Mrs. Lyda Sanders-Nichols. Miss Ruf was beautifully gowned in white ivory satin, lace and passementrie trimmed. She wore a veil bound by a wreath of orange blossoms and carried a shower of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. She was escorted by her father who gave her to the groom.

Miss Stella Ames, the maid of honor, was dressed in gold lace and yellow chiffon and carried autumn flowers. Miss Dorothy Andersen, sister of the groom, and Miss Helene McLellan were bridesmaids, wearing gold lace trimmed gowns. Little Misses Esther Andersen and Katherine Celio, nieces of the groom and bride respectively, acted as flower maids strewing rose petals along the path of the bridal party.

Arthur Christopher was groomsman and Oscar Ruf and Edward Andersen acted as ushers.

Mrs. Gove Celio, of Nevada City, sister of the bride, sang "When You Are Truly Mine," during the service.

The pretty ceremony was witnessed by a host of relatives and intimate friends. A wedding dinner was served the happy couple and the immediate families at the Vendome hotel, Sykes orchestra furnishing music.

"Expert" Word Coiners

A correspondent of a New York newspaper, writing to it in reference to ex-Senator Clark's art collection, says that "last year I was asked to expertize and give value," etc., on the paintings and drawings. "Expertize," indeed! This is a barbarous coinage, fully as bad as burglarize. It is to be hoped that this gentleman's knowledge of art is far greater than his skill in handling the noble English language.—Philadelphia Record.

Busy Woman Preacher

Few preachers of the gospel have a busier time of it than Louise Wilson Moore, who is pastor of a Congregational church in Spokane. In addition to preaching two sermons every Sunday and attending to her other pastoral duties, Mrs. Moore does her own housework and looks after her children. And with all this she found time one day recently to bake cakes for all her congregation. —Indianapolis News.

Mrs. D. H. Cramer and Mrs. G. S. Robson were joint hostesses Wednesday afternoon when they entertained about forty friends at bridge and mah jongg.

First and second honors were awarded Mrs. E. E. Pomeroy and Mrs. Leigh Saunders for bridge and Mrs. A. W. Ulph and Mrs. E. R. Kennedy for mah jongg, while the consolations went to Mrs. R. H. Hyde and Mrs. E. C. Merrill.

LANDSCAPE EXHIBIT AT STANFORD

F. H. Cutting will hold an exhibit of land and sea-scapes in the Stanford Welton University Gallery, November 1-15. Among the canvasses to be shown are paintings of th eColumbia River, Mt. Hood, Mt. Shasta, Santa Cruz mountains, Point Lobos, Monterey gardens, and Pacific Grove and dunes and sea-scapes.

These pictures are now at his studiio on Harrison avenue in Campbell, and may be seen there previous to their removal by those who will be unable to attend the University exhibit.

Cutting's paintings have been rapidly gaining in favor during the last fe wyears, and are being sold by S. & G. Gump Co. and Schwabacher Fry of San Francisco, Morcom of Oakland, and by such other houses as the Little Theatre of Monterey, at Asilomar, and Salinas.

He has shown paintings at the Carmel Art Exhibit and at the Sacramento State Fair, and has had reproductions of his paintings in special holiday editions ot the San Francisco News Letter. Postcard reproductions in color of some of his sea-scapes have proved very popular.

Cutting's work is faithful to nature. He carefully selects his subjects and then paints with a fidelity that makes his canvasses breathe with the spirit of the great out-doors. It is this adherence to truth of color and form and to the artistic ability to select and depict nature in her inspiring spots and moods that is responsible for the success of his work.

Whether it be the mystery of fog and sea, the majesty of mountain and tree, or the brilliancy of flower and dune, Mr. Cutting is ready with a sympathetic interpretation.

FROST-ROST

Mrs. Ivy Frost and Fred E. Rost were married in Redwood City, August 14. Owing to the illness of the groom's mother the wedding was very quiet with no attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Rost spent a few days at Santa Cruz and San Francisco.

Mrs. Rost has lived in Campbell most of her life and has been in the local telephone office for several years and her many friends and acquaintances unite in extending good wishes.

MAKING A GOOD TOWN BETTER

A community that expects to prosper can not afford to ignore the great agricultural interests that surround it—that form a part of it. People who live in the towns and cities get into the habit of thinking of the "community" as the closely built up sections. A community, large or small, is the area that has as its common center of attraction its business, social, moral and educational interests. No farmer or countryman ever was so far isolated from civilization that he did not belong to a community or mentally designate some one place as HIS center of communal interest.

The interdependence between the city man and the agriculturalist is so marked, and the means of transportation and communication is so efficient, that few barriers now exist. Among the measures that have brought to the farmer a genuine identity in the business life of the country are the Farm Bureau Federation movement and the Government's official recognition of agriculture. Improved farming methods, irrigation, diversification of crops and cooperative marketing place those who till the soil or those who see that the soil is tilled upon a footing never dreamed of a few decades ago.

That the farmer and the farmer's family are interested in what goes on in the city or town was strikingly illustrated recently when farmers living as far as five miles away donated large sums for the purchase of a park site in a town. Many examples such as this might be noted. Cultivation of the farmer's friendship and inviting him and his family to enter into the functions and activities of the urban populations, and recognizing him as a vital—a truly indispensable—part of the community in which we live, will mean more business, more prosperity and more happiness for all concerned.

FINDING YOUR CUSTOMERS

Mail order concerns seem to have little trouble in finding people. Whether they all become customers is another question, but one thing is sure, they find them.

They have a powerful ally at their command, which happens to be Uncle Sam's mail service. No one, of course, would think of criticizing the mail service from the fact that mail order houses use it. On the other hand, it behooves our local merchants and business men to find a source of trading power and value in order to compete with the outside firms. To do this they must be resourceful.

Argument and persuasion, coupled with a strong appeal to home pride and economic welfare of the community have gone a long way in having our money spent at home. However, the ingnuous merchant, rather the group of merchants, must ever be on the alert to find new methods of appeal. Careful buying, straightforward sales, not overstudied yet sensible courtesies, together with the consistent advertising of goods to the public will help keep the dollars circulating in Campbell

Pola Negri, movie star, has finally redeemed her $47,000 worth of jewels seized by customs officials last May when she "forgot" to declare them. Besides paying the value of the jewels, it cost the popular actress the neat sum of $10,000 in fines and duties. All of which shows the high cost of forgetting.

United States Marshal Frederick Esola was ordered by Federal Judges John S. Partridge and Frank H. Kerrigan to seize sixteen wineries located in various parts of California for alleged violations of federal permit regulations. The violations include mysterious so-called "leakages" and misrepresentations of amounts on hand. The wineries, under the orders issued, will be padlocked and a deputy United States marshal left in charge of each until court proceedings are concluded. The usual process is to order the destruction of the impounded wine, in this case amounting to more than 364,000 gallons. The court order covers the following wineries: Three at Santa Rosa, two each at Cloverdale, Calistoga, St. Helena, Geyserville and one each at Etna Springs, Ukiah, Healdsburg, Preston and Philo.

BANKERS HELP

A bank in Monrovia, Ind., tests seed corn for farmers A basement room was fitted out last season for the purpose and 25,000 ears were tested for fifty-six farmers One-fourth of the seed tested last year was unfit for seed. This year the percentage will run even higher. The work is done under the supervision of the high school agricultural teacher. He reports that the community will have a surplus of seed corn this year.

The banks of Conway, Ark. have offered prizes for the most marketable sweet potatoes produced on one acre of land. A first prize of $150 is offered, along with three district prizes of $50 each. The county agent and the banks are working out the details.

The County Bankers Association will help to employ a full time county leader this year for boys' and girls' club work in Calhoun, Cherokee and Buena Vista counties, Iowa.

Reason for Fractions

Ninety-nine shoppers of one hundred believe that the reason prices of articles in stores are in uneven sums is to make things look cheaper than they really are, according to The Nation's Business, which points out, however, that the device was first used for a totally different purpose. Many years ago the founder of a large department store in New York hit on the scheme as a means of compelling his clerks to be honest. There were no cash registers in those days, and he wanted prices which would make it necessary to give a customer back change. If an article sold for $2 the clerk might put the money in his pocket, but if the price were $1.98 the clerk would have to go to a cashier at a central point for change, and the transaction would be recorded.

THE PENCIL MAKES A FARM PAY BETTER

Farm Accounting Reveals Losing Methods and Points Way to Bigger Profits.

(From Banker-Farmer)

A farm cannot properly be called successful unless it pays a fair rate of interest on the investment and returns fair wages for the farmer's labor. Agriculture is considered by all odds the most important industry in the world, and yet in no other industry is the business end so neglected.

It is common to find a farmer with an investment of fifteen to twenty thousand dollars, yet does he keep books? Perhaps he may jot down a note now and then of an important deal, but this is of no value in an analysis of his business as a whole. No other industry, however small, is carried on without books of some sort.

Farming is a business and to be successful must be conducted in a businesslike way. The business man's mind should have indelibly printed upon it two questions: What profit is my business making? How can that profit be increased? To know the latter, one must find out the former; and to find out about profits requires the keeping of books.

It is not necessary for a farmer to have a course in bookkeeping. Almost every agricultural college in the country has issued a simplified farm [illegible] each day to jot down the day's happenings.

Accounts Increase Profits

Instances number a thousandfold where farmers have profited by knowing their business. Accounts kept by nineteen farmers in Illinois led them to improve the organization and operation of their farms in ways that added approximately $650 to their average net income in 1922, the seventh year they had kept accounts.

An Iowa farmer found at the end of the first year he kept books that crops fed to livestock brought more money than when sold outright. His figures showed that his cows were poor; compared with other farms in the state, he found the number of acres cultivated per man on his farm, as well as the number of acres per horse were below average. He rented more land and replanned his fields, so that the crop areas per man and horse were increased. He sold some of his [illegible] and bought good cows. The [illegible] his income from the [illegible] paying all expenses and [illegible] been increased over $350.

Costs Can Be Regulated

"I have discovered," says one farm bookkeeper, "that the kind of man you have on a job, as well as the particular team, often makes quite a variation in the cost of performing certain tasks. I have learned from the pages of my book that if I could have increased the yield of my wheat field by two bushels and my corn by five bushels I would have realized a substantial profit from them."

While the farmers may not be able to fix prices on their products, they do have a voice in determining the costs of production. To reduce this cost they must first know what the costs are.

The number of farmers who are keeping books on their business has increased remarkably in recent years, but the number of businesslike farmers is woefully small when listed alongside the sum total of the farmers in the country.

Inventory Is Indispensable

The basis of any system of farm accounting is the annual property list or inventory. It is the starting point of the farm records. One must take into consideration decreases or increases in the value of all property owned to gauge the progress of the business. Lacking facts as to the value of his property, no business man can form an accurate estimate of how he stands financially. Increased cash may be due to property which was sold, or increased debts may be due to improvements made. If a farmer is falling behind, the inventory will emphasize this fact. Often when a man is discouraged and thinks he is making no progress, his inventories will tell him that he is better off than he thought.

At the end of each year a financial statement is drawn off. This is the farmer's rating and no farmer with a good financial statement need fear walking into a bank and asking for a loan.

Horses Found Graves

A laborer was plowing a field near Mansfield, England, recently, says the London Daily Express, when suddenly the two horses in front of him vanished into the earth and dragged the plow on top of them.

The earth had subsided to the depth of six feet, and the hole was four yards long by four yards wide. Both horses were suffocated before they could be removed. A subsidence occurred in the same field a few months ago, and it is believed that the water beneath is wearing away the limestone.

RINGLING BROS. and BARNUM & BAILEY CIRCUS ENLARGED TO ACCOMODATE NEW ACTS

At last the five ring circus!

For years reporters have used this figure of speech to describe the bigness of the Greatest Show on Earth. Now for the first time in history patrons will actually find five rings when the greater Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus of 1925 comes to San Jose, September 8.

With the addition last winter of enough performing horses to bring the big show's total to three hundred and fifty the problem presented to the Ringling Brothers was," How handle five troupes of them in a single display?'' The limits of the show grounds in many cities forbids lenghtening the main tent. None of the stages could be spared. All were needed for the big collective groups of human actors. Then somebody suggested that though the ''big-top'' paraphenalia could not be cut down nor yet ''spread out,'' there was no reason why it should not be ''built higher''. That suggestion was worked out and now, in addition to the three dirt floored rings, two additional rings have been constructed to fit over the top of the steel structured stages.

This is the greatest innovation since the Ringling Brothers started their super circus policy by combining their own with the Barnum and Bailey circus. It has opened the way not only for trained horse numbers in sets of five, but for other big, new displays.

Though there are more than eight hundred men and women arenic stars on the the mammoth program of 1925 only a few of the most brilliant are presented singly. Instead they are presented in imposing ensembles. These groupes extend over the entire length of the huge main tent—seven, nine, as many as eleven troupes in action at one time. In keeping with this plan of giving the spectators at the end of the tent just as much ''show'' as enjoyed by those nearer the center, five herds of elephants are now presented instead of three. A hundred clowns distribute their caperings in all parts of the ''big-top.''

The hippodrome track is utilized more than ever before. At one time it is completely circled by one hundred and fifty trained horse, each ridden by an expert, in an amazing ballet and ''Fete of the Garlands.'' Again it is filled with glitering pageants, with splendid horses of remarkable thoroughbreds that give thrilling exhibitions of lofty hurdling and hazardous high-jumps.

A new $200,000 grandstand will be erected at the state fair grounds. Work will be commenced immediately at the close of the coming exhibition.

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the residence of D. M. McEwen, San Francisco insurance man, in San Mateo. The loss is estimtted at $15,000.
